

FRENCH WIN BIG VICTORY NEAR VERDUN

RETAKEN VILLAGE OF FLEURY, HELD FOR A MONTH BY GERMANS, AFTER ALL NIGHT ATTACK.

TEUTON CAUSE WANES

French Observers Believe That Allies Have Now Established A Permanent Ascendancy on the West Front.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Aug. 4.—The French have captured the entire village of Fleury, in the Verdun sector, according to an official announcement issued by the French war office. A number of prisoners were taken.

French Enter Thiaumont.
On the right bank of the Meuse, along the front of Fleury, the Germans attacking several times during the night with great fury, it was officially announced this afternoon that the French war department had successfully driven the French from the village of Fleury. The French still are holding the northern section of the place, and fighting is still going on. All the attempts made by the Germans to drive the French from the station southeast of Fleury were frustrated.

The French positions at Vacher-aueville also were attacked during the night, but the French war department declares the Germans were thrown back with severe losses.

Verdun Has War Stage.
Verdun is again in the center of the war stage. The capture by the French of the village of Fleury, which has been held by the Germans for more than a month, caused great elation in France. It is the first fruit of the French offensive.

The French military observers mark an epoch in the six months' battle for the great fortress on the Meuse.

The Germans appear to be less and less capable of operating on their old overwhelming scale and the initiative, military men here think, is about to pass to the French for good.

While the German artillery continues to be as powerful and as well supplied as ever, the Germans no longer are able to gather the masses of troops necessary to reap the benefit of artillery.

German Strength Wanes.
It is twenty days since the Germans made their last big attack on the right bank of the Meuse, by which they obtained small results at a heavy cost. On the left bank of the Meuse, nothing beyond local action has been attempted by the invaders for a week.

French bomb throwers for a fortnight past, in anticipation of the German offensive, have been creeping forward by the Vignes ravine, west of Fleury, with the object of getting within range of the German works by working around Hill No. 304.

The bombers first reached the Brasfleury road. They then separated into two parties, one going to the Somme and the other to the Meuse. The second party, moving toward Vacher-aueville and Fleury Hill.

Small British Gain.
London, Aug. 4.—Minor operations
last night by British on the Somme resulted in the gain of a few feet of ground from the German front line.
The war office announced today.

Claim Victories.
Berlin, Aug. 4.—The village of Fleury, north of Verdun, was recaptured by the Germans this morning, it was officially announced.

Austro-German troops have regained territory which they have lost in the region of the Mynsk to the east of Kovel, according to the German official statement issued today. The Teutons also gained ground in the Carpathian mountains in the region of Kobilas.

Russian Advances.
Petrograd, Aug. 4.—Russian troops have captured the village of Rodnik on the river Stavok, a left tributary of the Dnieper, it was officially announced today. Rodnik-Myrskan is seventeen miles east of Kovel.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

of two Italian submarines is officially long time ago. As they have failed sidered lost.

A Thaumaturgical dispatch of August 3

CLAIMS EXPLOSION ON BLACK TOM PIER PURPOSELY SET OFF

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Jersey City, Aug. 4.—The explosion of munitions on Black Tom Island last Sunday morning, which killed at least four persons and did approximately $20,000,000 damage, was caused by "some persons with the object of doing just what was accomplished," according to Theodore Johnson, one of the four men who were arraigned today charged with manslaughter in connection with the blast.

The hearing was deferred until August 18.

Mr. Johnson, president of the Johnson Lighterage and Towing company,

GROW HEMP TO KILL
QUACK GRASS THISTLES;
WISCONSIN TRIAL A SUCCESS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Waupun, Wis., Aug. 4.—Experiments with the growing of hemp, primarily for the purpose of killing quack grass and waste seed as the Canadian tis-tle, first started in this section by Commissioner C. P. Norgard through agricultural experiment station, have proved successful.

The first hemp was grown four years ago with only 125 acres planted in 1913. 400 acres were grown in four centers of the state—Waupun, Brandon, Beaver Dam and Union Grove.
The acre produced in those districts in that year was sold for $9,000. The following year, about 800 acres were planted and the crop was valued at $12,000.

Experiments show that the soils and climate conditions of the state are favorable for the growth of hemp.
It cannot be grown successfully except on a good, strong, fertile land.
When the waste hemp roots and the products of this fermentation go back in the soil, the draft upon the land is not heavy.

The Indo-China hemp, grown in Kentucky, has been found by far the most suitable for Wisconsin conditions.

WALWORTH COUNTY PEOPLE GIVE FAIR BOOSTERS WELCOME

Hundreds of People Greet Janesville Boosters at Darlen, Delavan and Woodlawn Bay Hotel.

The Janesville Fair and Homecoming Boosters scored another big success last evening on a booster run through Walworth county. About thirty people made the trip, including the lower City band and the other persons taking part in the programs. The first stop was made at Darlen, where the party received a warm reception. Nearly one thousand townspeople and persons from the surrounding country of Darlen gathered on the main street where the entertainment was given. A band-stand lighted with electric lights had been constructed and everything was in readiness when the boosters arrived. A procession was formed in the lower part of town and to the tune of band music the Janesville aggregation marched to the band stand.

THIN, LIGHT YET STARCHED AND SMOOTH. 15c each. 6 for 90c. CLOTH, READY A CO. INC., ST. LOUIS.

invited everyone to attend. The fair has unusual attractions this year, he said, and will be of great benefit to those who attend. Robert Daley, in a number of local sections, brought forth a loud applause from the attentive audience. He closed his part of the program with a little Fair and Homecoming song, written especially for the occasion by the local composer. The Lakota club quartet, composed of John Hendrickson, Oscar Hammarlund, Charles Hessemauer, and Floyd Klinger also sang a number of popular selections.

After the concert, the party journeyed on to Delavan where another large crowd was awaiting the arrival of the boosters. Band music and vocal selections by Mr. Daley, the quartet and a short talk by Mr. Moutal made up the Delavan program. L. F. Mainey, a prominent Delavan business man, delivered a responsive address at the hotel, through the kindness of the manager, the boosters were allowed to put on a short program. Nearly two hundred persons gathered at the hotel, thus affording the boosters a good chance to advertise the fair and homecoming. The summer resorters heartily applauded the musical selections rendered by Mr. Moutal and the quartet. At this place, Mr. Moutal also gave a short talk and told the people of the purpose of the evening's entertainment and gave them all a hearty invitation to the largest fair and homecoming celebration ever given in this section of the country.

This evening Clinton and Shopiere visited by the boosters. Tomorrow evening they will go up to Fulton where a big celebration is in full progress. Monday evening will be the last of the runs and Hanover, Orfordville and Footville are scheduled to be visited.

Exhibitor's Notice
Realizing that the farmers throughout the county and state are rushed with work at the present time, the Janesville Big Fair management have decided to extend the time for the close of the stock exhibits. The date for the close was set for Thursday, August 3, but now it will close at ten o'clock Tuesday morning, the opening day of the Fair. This will include the cattle, sheep, swine and horse departments. With the extension of time for the close of the entry lists it is thought that there will be ample time for the farmers to enter their prize stock. The entry list for the milk contest will close Monday afternoon, August 7.

Word was received this morning from Mrs. Frederetta Van Slyke, who was to be judge of the domestic department, that she would be unable to attend the Janesville Fair. The management have secured the services of Mrs. Frank Fisher, a prominent instructor in domestic science.

FAIR ARRANGEMENTS STOP SUNDAY GAME

Ground Torn Up and Horsemen Using the Tracks Reasons Why Manager Caldwell Cancels Contest With Rockford Team.

The baseball game scheduled for Sunday at the Driving Park diamond between the Janesville Cardinals and the Rockford team has been cancelled.

This move was deemed advisable because of arrangements being made for the Janesville fair of next week. In addition to the fair, the use of the track for training and tryout purposes. The concession men have torn down the outside wire fence near the baseball ticket offices and the absence of this would be a serious handicap with the crowds.

It may be that there will be no game scheduled for a week from Sunday. Last year's diamond was in extremely poor condition after the fair closed and during the first game and it is proposed to have the field in the best of shape after the fair and before any games are played there.

FOODS THEY BUILD OR DESTROY

Amazing but rarely suspected truths about the things you eat.
By ALFRED W. MCCANN (Copyright, 1916, by Alfred W. McCann.)

CHAPTER 93.

For many years the effects of sulphuric acid upon public health, inspired bitter agitation in scientific and lay circles, the public, knowing nothing of the facts, are introduced to them here.

For years the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture at Washington and the dried fruit industry of the United States have worried each other to such lengths that scientists and lawyers engaged by both sides in a controversy that the public has never heard of, have appeared in almost all the courts of the country for and against the merits and demerits of sulphuric acid.

It is time indeed that the laity should have some knowledge of what is going on.

The beautiful Sultana raisin, grown in California and marketed under a name which conveys the idea that it comes all the way from Turkey, is part of a scheme of fraud which is average household never suspects.

The beautiful Sultana raisin, grown in California and marketed under a name which conveys the idea that it comes all the way from Turkey, is part of a scheme of fraud which is average household never suspects.

The dried fruit men openly refer, when speaking to themselves, to a phenomenon which they admit to be real.

They say that beetles, ants, flies and birds will starve to death rather than eat sulphuric acid.

If the instincts and habits of the lower animals, which prompt them to avoid certain foods, had no meaning for human intelligence, we would not have our modern system of medication.

Notwithstanding this fact the layman never asks how it is that the Sultana raisin, which is so inferior to the natural, unbleached raisin.

For years men prominently identified with the dried fruit industry have declared that if they were compelled by law to abandon their custom of bleaching dried apples, dried apricots and dried Sultana raisins with sulphuric acid they would be put to an end of their business.

Dried fruit brokers have told me with great pathos that without the use of sulphuric acid the bleached dried fruit industry would be obliged to erect new buildings, install new machinery and take greater care in protecting their products from the appetites of birds and insects.

For six years the government referee board, to which the sulphuric acid question was referred for a decision, kept quiet, while in the meantime the harvest of sulphured fruits has increased enormously.

In 1909 California alone produced 20,000 tons of dried peaches treated with sulphuric acid. This quantity had increased to 35,000 tons in 1915. The dried apples and evaporated apples treated with sulphuric acid increased accordingly.

It is a long time in which to determine whether a poison is a poison, particularly if during the meantime the public, without its knowledge, is obliged to eat the product over which there is so much argument.

In the meantime California has been able to sell to the United States government, "Hands off." Through the influence of the state government, the state of Washington was able to keep the referee board silent for six years.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley made a bitter fight against the use of sulphuric acid in all foods. Wiley happened to be the greatest food crusader of all times is now only too well known.

Yet while the referee board was brooding over the wholesomeness of day afternoon.

Charles Sawyer has commenced digging the cellar for his new residence on Oak street. It is to be a bungalow with modern improvements. The Baptist Mission Society will meet at the Baptist church parlors tomorrow afternoon.

Friends of Mrs. Ida Lyon Hutchins received the sad news of her death at Waukegan, Ill., July 21. She was the daughter of the late Isaac Reed Lyon and Mrs. Lorenda Carpenter Lyon, and was born at Waukegan, Oct. 14, 1850, making her nearly sixty-six years of age. She was married in 1872 to Edwin Wesley Hutchins, who died in May, 1915. Mrs. Hutchins and her husband were residents of Darlen two years, making their home where Darwin Clough now lives. She was an active worker in the Presbyterian church at Waukegan and a great civic, social and industrial worker. She was the mother of five children, as follows: Mary L. Hutchins; Roy, who died in infancy; Ethel, who is a social worker in Waukegan; Florence, who died in the Chicago Theatre fire in Chicago, and Edwin of Milwaukee. Besides her two daughters and one son she leaves one sister, Mrs. H. E. Wood, of Lincoln, Neb. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, July 23, from her late home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Johnson, F. H. Johnson and Miss Gertrude Lawson spent today at Delavan Lake and attended the Assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jacks left Monday for their home at Calumet, Michigan, after spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Vanderhoof.

UTTERS CORNERS
Utter's Corners, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Edward Thorne's sister and two brothers of Racine came Thursday for an extended visit at her home.

Misses Eva and Viola Dixon of Lima Center spent Saturday night and Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Farnsworth.

Mrs. J. Lavanway spent Sunday with her daughter at Clover Valley.

Mrs. Ida Davis spent a portion of last week with Mrs. Hudson, at Milton.

unwholesomeness of sulphuric acid as an ingredient of commercial food-stuffs. Dr. J. C. Olsen, professor of chemistry in the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, established to his own satisfaction the harmfulness of sulphuric acid when introduced into the food of animals.

In 1911 Dr. Olsen issued a statement which was given wide publicity throughout the newspapers of the country.

These were his words:

"Sulphuric acid kills people by the slow route. It prolongs their agony longer than would be the case if they were shot or stabbed. There is no doubt of that. Whether you describe the effects that follow its use as murder or not depends perhaps upon much stock you own in the food industry that uses this drug."

"I have put sulphuric acid in the food of dogs and watched them closely for months. At first they actually appeared to fasten on the diet. Any casual observer would be misled by this phenomenon to pronounce sulphuric acid a wholesome ingredient of food."

At the end of six months we chloroformed the animals and made post-mortem examinations. There were no organs appeared sound and healthy. The acid apparently had not come into contact with the naked eye.

Before a jury, with only the surface evidence by which to be misled, sulphuric acid would have been whitewashed.

However, we went further than a mere post-mortem. We put the dogs' kidneys under the microscope, in every case he results were the same. The kidneys had begun to break down. The lens revealed the degeneration of the cells for this reason I look upon sulphuric acid as deadly."

Dr. Olsen did not profess to know anything about the conduct of sulphuric acid in the body of a human being. He knew only what had happened to the unfortunate dogs on which he had experimented, but there his knowledge stopped.

Children were eating dried fruits bleached with sulphuric acid in every state of the union. Children have been eating this fruit for six years, during which the referee board has spent the nation's money in silence.

Throughout all these years all American children in whose diet bleached white fruits has appeared were in the sulphuric acid poison squad, whether their parents knew it or not.

On April 21, 1913, I suggested to the health department of New York City, which has unlimited powers, that it should take twenty orphan children ranging in age from five to ten years and feed them daily with the same kind of bleached dried peaches which twenty million other children of the same age in the United States are asked to eat and are permitted to eat without shock or objection on the part of their parents or guardians.

I suggested that at the end of one year these twenty-five children should be found to be peculiarly anaemic, the department of health would find some justification for exercising its vast powers in the discouragement of the sulphuric acid industry and would doubtless be abolished of all charges of cruelty or barbarism in making the experiment.

The critics of that were showered upon me for making this suggestion indicated that the timid souls who stand by and say nothing while millions of women and children are exposed to the use of a chemically treated food which is at least in the doubtful class, became exceedingly indignant, forceful, and even violent when a generalized condition tolerated on a vast scale is focused down to a fine point where it can be seen, weighed, measured, and felt.

We shall then see what actual justification then existed and what justification still exists for taking this bleached fruit industry in hand.

RAILROAD WAGES

Shall they be determined by Industrial Warfare or Federal Inquiry?

To the American Public:

Do you believe in arbitration or industrial warfare?

The train employees on all the railroads have voted whether they will give their leaders authority to tie up the commerce of the country to enforce their demands for a 100 million dollar wage increase.

The railroads are in the public service—your service. This army of employees is in the public service—your service.

You pay for rail transportation 3 billion dollars a year, and 44 cents out of every dollar from you goes to the employees.

On all the Western railroads in 1915, seventy-five per cent of the train employees earned these wages (lowest, highest and average of all) as shown by the pay rolls—

	Passenger		Freight		Yard
	Range	Average	Range	Average	Range	Average
Engineers	$1747 3094	$2195	$1537 3076	$2071	$1056 2445	$1378
Conductors	1543 2789	1878	1454 2933	1935	1151 2045	1355
Firemen	1053 2078	1317	751 2059	1181	418 1552	973
Brakemen	854 1719	967	874 1961	1135	862 1821	1107

The average yearly wage payments to all Western train employees (including those who worked only part of the year) as shown by the 1915 payrolls were—

	Passenger	Freight	Yard
Engineers	$2038	$1737	$1218
Conductors	1772	1624	1292
Firemen	1218	973	832
Brakemen	921	1000	1026

A 100 million dollar wage increase for men in freight and yard service (less than one-fifth of all employees) is equal to a 5 per cent advance in all freight rates.

The managers of the railroads, as trustees for the public, have no right to place this burden on the cost of transportation to you without a clear mandate from a public tribunal speaking for you.

The railroads have proposed the settlement of this controversy either under the existing national arbitration law, or by reference to the Interstate Commerce Commission. This offer has been refused by the employees' representatives.

Shall a nation-wide strike or an investigation under the Government determine this issue?

WEATHER FORECAST.

Thunder showers this afternoon and tonight. Saturday generally fair and cooler, preceded by showers in south-east portion.

AMERICA FIRST.

These words are the keynote of Mr. Hughes' speech of acceptance. They emphasize his clear thinking, his far-seeing vision and his clarity of expression. They take one beyond the confusion of today and into the life of tomorrow—of that tomorrow which shall follow the conclusion of peace in Europe, when the world will take up its readjustment and when the fashion of the adjustment will determine for the United States whether we shall maintain, in any measure, the commercial and industrial supremacy which we now enjoy.

That supremacy is nothing for which we can take special credit to ourselves. It was not created by Woodrow Wilson nor is it the outgrowth of any of the policies of his party. It exists not because of, but in spite of the Wilson administration, the democratic congress and the Underwood tariff law. It may disappear as suddenly as it came—and it will so disappear if the Wilson administration, the democratic congress and the Underwood tariff are to be retained.

America is to remain first, America must be made efficient—efficient in legislation, efficient in administration, efficient in business, efficient in the next four or eight years—and it is this vista which attracts the attention of Hughes. He is not looking to the fourth of March, 1917, when his successor will take office; and when by the effect of the policies which he has in mind and which he will put in force in cordial co-operation with a congress of his party, an America, first and efficient, will stand forth pre-eminent as never before.

That is Hughes' vision of his task—an alluring vision of selfishness and patriotism. He has set it before the country; and it summons every American, and especially every efficient American, to join with Hughes in carrying the task forward to triumphant completion. This is a summons which every efficient American will hear and heed. Hughes will lead us all to "America first and America efficient."

DRINKING FOUNTAINS.

Need for more public drinking fountains has been emphasized during these past few weeks of extreme heat. Not only drinking fountains for man, but also for beasts. Canines and horses need just as much, if not more water, than human beings and they, poor beasts, can not always find it as available.

Bubblers should be erected in the most convenient downtown districts and certainly throughout the parks where hundreds go to enjoy what cool air and rest can be obtained. Hardly a day passes but some automobile party from away visits Janesville and takes a picnic lunch in some one of the parks. Lack of water compels them to apply for it at private residences and with the city owning the water works, it should be available in the parks themselves.

Wander through the County House, or any other of the city parks, during the noon hour, afternoon or evening, and you will find any number of people who go there for rest and recreation. Good drinking water should be available for their use and it should be in as convenient places as possible for their convenience.

The cost of installation and maintenance should not be so great that it can not be compassed by the city administration and it is due the public that they be given the conveniences that they need. The days of the old "city pump," the swinging bucket in the old-fashioned outside well, are gone with the red top boots and tippets and their places are to be found the faucet and the water meter.

While those who live adjacent to these parks doubtless are glad to accommodate the thirsty visitors, still it is an annoyance that could easily be overcome if drinking places were established where they belong. Water should be free and available now that the city owns the water works.

COUNTY POLITICS.

This is the time of the year when the county politician whets up his knife and starts out to do some prying in the political field. While the county is nominally republican, still upsets do come and the average democrat is always hoping this is the opportune time. However the republicans usually have enough candidates for the various offices to make things interesting and if there are no contests in the democratic ranks, these brethren under our wise and all-powerful primary law, can step in and turn the tide of votes one way or another.

As usual this year there is a surfeit of aspirants for almost every office on the list. As usual Beloit expects to nominate the sheriff and probably will, for in past efforts are any criterion, while Beloit always stands behind its candidate, Janesville divides its vote and the rest of the county usually does likewise. The other county offices will probably be closely contested affairs as the aspirants are not permitting any grass to grow under their feet these days despite the heat, and some way or other the average farmer or citizen always has time to stop and talk politics no matter how hot it is or how busy they are. It is one of the enjoyments of the average American citizen that he will not be deprived of. Usually the pre-primary campaign is of the gum shoe variety. The aspirants toil diligently in personal interviews, slipping to this or that picnic or gathering and always being prominent at meetings to show the voters how interested they are in his

"By the way, dear," remarked Brownwell Scoots casually to his wife at breakfast on Monday, "I'll not be home for dinner tonight. Couple of boys, or from out of town and ah—er—h'm." On Tuesday morning he observed off-handedly, "Don't expect me for dinner tonight, duckie; pressing ah—er—h'm." At Wednesday's breakfast he absently bade a few remarks to the same effect and afterwards during Thursday's initial meal, and Friday's as well. But on Saturday he showed up for dinner and Mrs. Scoots, the most charming little heroine of today's story, arose at her place at the foot of the table and spoke as follows:

"Children, we have with us tonight a guest of whom you have all heard, even if you do not personally know him. He is a man who has a reputation for conviviality and good-fellowship, not to say camaraderie and sociableness, in every club in the city, and this evening we are to have the honor and pleasure of being among the admirers of his brilliant and entertaining qualities. Therefore it is with great pleasure, children, that I present to you this evening, your papa."

And the little jokere's cute stunt so tickled Brownwell Scoots that he only dined out four nights the following week.

It seems a shame to stop and think What father's got to buy; We swatted everything we could, But didn't swat the fly.

Why Worry. Leave it to the bewhiskered old boys of science, they of the square spectacles and ear muffs, and this world will be pulled through its rather precarious existence. Some time ago somebody who needed the money wrote an alarmist article for a magazine stating that in a very short time, in fact, within eight or nine million years, the earth's food supply would be entirely exhausted.

That set all the scientists going like a madman, and in the dizzy whirl of investigation some very interesting things came to light. It was up to the scientists to find something for the people to eat eight or nine million years hence. It was not wholly a new problem. Scientists long ago evolved the scheme of sawing up timber into breakfast food and said that a man could go forth with a bucksaw and get enough sawdust out of a fence rail to keep himself and his family supplied for some time.

One learned scientist thinks that he has solved the problem for all time. He says that the nut trees could, in a pinch, supply food for the entire world.

The knotty question has become a nutty question, and one which he has apparently solved. Those who are on earth now should be of good cheer; they will not have to starve eight million years hence.

I don't believe that I would care To do my riding in the air. Like Beachy did or Orville Wright; I like to know where I will light. I don't call autolug much fun; I almost never ride in one. And carriage riding palls on me; It's tame as far as I can see. Somehow or other I don't like To go out riding on a bike. And motor boating to my mind Is riding of a tedious kind. Of course maybe some folks will think That my idea is on the blink.

But I will tell the reason why The street car ride I'm swearing by. A simple hint will quite suffice, It is a matter of the price. The trolley way is, woe betide, The only way that I CAN ride.

"We were just talking about you," he said.

"Yes?" The smile remained as the girl's touch lingered.

"Your ma thinks I'd better accept that New York offer on your account."

"On mine? I don't understand."

Peter stroked the band in his clasp and his weak, upturned face was wrinkled with apprehension. "She thinks you should see the world and make something of yourself."

"That would be nice." Lorelei's lips were still parted as she turned toward her mother in some bewilderment.

"You'd like the city, wouldn't you?" Mrs. Knight inquired.

"Why, yes; I suppose so."

"We're poor—poorer than we've ever been. Jim will have to work, and so will you."

"I'll do what I can, of course; but I don't know how to do anything. I'm afraid I won't be much help at first."

"We'll see to that. Now, run along, dearie."

When she had gone Peter gave a grunt of conviction.

"She is pretty," he acknowledged; "pretty as a picture, and you certainly dress her well. She'd ought to make a good actress."

Jim echoed him enthusiastically.

"Pretty? I'll bet Bernhard's got nothing on her for looks. She'll have a brownstone but on Fifth avenue and an airtight limousine one of these days, see if she don't."

"When do you plan to leave?" faltered the father.

Mrs. Knight answered with some satisfaction: "Rehearsals commence in May."

CHAPTER II.

Mr. Campbell Pope was a cynic. He had cultivated a superb contempt for those beliefs which other people cherish. Most men attain success through love of their work; Mr. Pope had become an eminent critic because of his hatred for the drama and all things dramatic. Nor was he any more enamored of journalism, being in truth by nature bucolic, but after trying many occupations and failing in all of them he had returned to his desk after each excursion into other fields. First-night audiences knew him now, and had come to look for his thin, sharp features. His shapeless, wrinkled suit that resembled a sleeping bag; his dandy shirt, always tieless and frequently collarless, were considered attributes of genius; and, finding New York to be amazingly glib, he took a certain delight in accentuating his eccentricities. At especially prominent premieres he affected a sweater underneath his coat, but that was his nearest approach to formal evening dress. Further concession to fashion he made none.

Owing to the dearth of new productions this summer, Pope had undertaken a series of magazine articles descriptive of the reigning theatrical beauties, and, while he detested women in general and the painted favorites of Broadway in particular, he had forced himself to write the common laudatory stuff which the public demanded. Only once had he given free rein to his inclinations and written with a poisoned pen. Tonight, however, as he entered the stage door of Bergman's Circuit theater, it was with a different intent.

Regan, the stage-door tender, better known since his vaudeville days as "The Judge," answered his greeting with a lugubrious shake of a bald head.

"I'm a sick man, Mr. Pope. Same old trouble."

"M-r-m. Kidneys, isn't it?"

"No. Rheumatism. I'm a beehive swarming with pains." The Judge leaned forward, and a strong odor of whisky enveloped the cellar. "Could you slip me four bits for some liniment?"

The critic smiled. "There's a dollar, Regan. Try Scotch for a change. It's better for you than these cheap blends. And don't breathe toward a lamp, or you'll ignite."

The Judge laughed wheezingly. "I do take a drop now and then. See here, you know all the managers, Mr. Pope. Can't you find a job for Lottie Devine?"

"Lottie Devine. Why, she's your wife, isn't she? She's a trifle old, I'm afraid."

"Eh!" She wiggles up a lot better'n some of the squabs in this troupe. Believe me, she'd fit any chorus."

"Why don't you ask Bergman?"

Mr. Regan shook his hairless head. "He's dippy on types. This show's full of 'em: real blondes, real brunettes, bold and dashing ones, tall and staid, blubbers, shrinkers, laughers, and sadders. He won't stand for make-up; he wants 'em with the dew on. They've got to look natural for Bergman. That's some of 'em now." He nodded toward a group of young, fresh-cheeked girls who had entered the stage door and were burying down the hall.

"I've come to interview one of Bergman's 'types,' that new beauty, Miss Knight. Is she here yet?"

"Sure; her and the back-drop, too. She carries the old woman for scenery." Mr. Regan took the caller's card and shuffled away, leaving Pope to watch the stream of performers as they entered and made for their quarters. There were many women in the number, and all of them were pretty. Most of them were overdressed in the extremes of fashion; a few quietly garbed ladies and gentlemen entered the lower dressing rooms reserved for the principals.

Meanwhile he exchanged greetings with the star—a clear-eyed man with the face of a scholar and the limbs of an athlete. The latter had studied for the law; he had the drolliest legs in the business, and his salary exceeded that of Supreme court justice. They were talking when Mr. Regan returned to tell the interviewer that he would be received.

Pope followed to the next floor and entered a brightly lighted, overheated dressing room, where Lorelei and her mother were waiting. It was a glaring, stuffy cubbyhole ventilated by means of a hall door and a tiny window opening from the lavatory at the rear. Along the sides ran mirrors, beneath which was fixed a wide make-up shelf. One section of the wall was devoted to telegraph and cable forms, bearing messages of felicitation at the opening of "The Revue of 1913." A zoologist would have found the display uninteresting; but a society reporter would have revelled in the names—and especially in the sentiments—inscribed upon the yellow sheets. Some were addressed to Lorelei Knight, others to Lilla Lynn, her roommate.

Pope found Lorelei completely dressed, in expectation of his arrival. She wore the white and silver first-act costume of the Fairy Princess. Both she and her mother were plainly nonplused at the appearance of their caller; but Mrs. Knight recovered quickly from the shock and said agreeably:

"Lorelei was frightened to death at your message yesterday. She was almost afraid to let you interview her after what you wrote about Adoree Demorest."

Pope shrugged. "Your daughter is altogether different to the star of the Palace Garden, Mrs. Knight. Demorest trades openly upon her notoriety—and I don't like bad women. New York never would have taken her up if she hadn't advertised as the wickedest woman in Europe, for she can neither act, sing nor dance. However, she's become the rage, so I had to include her in my series of articles. Now, Miss Knight has made a legitimate success at the Palace Garden. He turned to the girl herself, who was smiling at him as she had smiled since his entrance. He did not wonder at the prominence her beauty had brought her, for even at this close range her make-up could not disguise her loveliness. The lily had been painted, to be sure, but the sacrifice was not too noticeable; the lips were glaringly red now, but the expression was none the less sweet and friendly.

"There's nothing 'legitimate' about musical shows," she told him, in reply to his last remark, "and I can't act or sing or dance as well as Miss Demorest."

"You don't need to; just let the public rest its eyes on you and it will be satisfied—anyhow, it should be. Of course everybody flatters you. Has success turned your head?"

Mrs. Knight answered for her daughter. "Lorelei has too much sense for that. She succeeded easily, but she isn't spoiled."

Then, in response to a question by Pope, Lorelei told him something of her experience. "We're up-state people, you know. Mr. Bergman was looking for types, and I seemed to suit, so I got an engagement at once. The newspapers began to mention me, and when he produced this show he had the part of the Fairy Princess written in for me. It's really very easy, and I don't do much except wear the gowns and speak a few lines."

"You're one of the principals," her mother said, chidingly.

"I suppose you're ambitious?" Pope put in.

Again the mother answered. "Indeed she is, and she's bound to succeed. Of course, she hasn't had any experience to speak of, but there's more than one manager that's got his eye on her." The listener inwardly cringed. "She could be starred easy, and she will be, too, in another season."

Pope resented Mrs. Knight's share in the conversation. He did not like the elder woman's face, nor her voice, nor her manner. She impressed him as another theatrical type with which he was familiar—the stage mamma. He found himself marveling at the dissimilarity of the two women.

"Of course a famous beauty does meet a lot of people," he said. "Tell me what you think of our flourishing little city and our New York men."

But Lorelei raised a slender hand. "Not for worlds. Besides, you're making fun of me now. You are considered a very dangerous person, Mr. Pope."

"You're thinking of my story about the Demorest woman again," he laughed.

"Is she really as bad as you have described her?"

"I don't know, never having met the lady. I wouldn't humiliate myself by a personal interview, so I built a story on the Broadway gossip. Inasmuch as she goes in for notoriety, I gave her some of the best that I had in stock. Her photographer did the rest."

The door curtains parted, and Lilla Lynn, a slim, black-eyed young woman, entered. She greeted Pope cordially as she removed her hat and laughed.

talk to you after the paunchy job gave Demorest," she continued. "Aren't you ashamed of yourself to strike a defenseless star?"

Pope nodded. "I am, and I'm ashamed of my entire sex when I hear of them flocking to the Palace Garden just to see a woman who has nothing to distinguish her but a reputation for villainess."

"Did you see the crown jewels—the King's Cabachon rubies?" Lorelei asked.

"Only from the front. I dare say they're as counterfeit as she is."

Miss Lynn turned, revealing a countenance as shifty as that of an Eskimo belle. With her war-paint only half applied and her hair secured closely to her small head, she did not in the least resemble the dashing "countess" of the program.

"Oh, they're real enough. I got that straight."

Campbell Pope scoffed.

"Isn't it true about the king of Seldovia? Didn't she wreck his throne?" eagerly queried Mrs. Knight.

"I never met the king, and I haven't examined his throne. But, you know, kings can do no wrong, and thrones are easily mended."

But Mrs. Knight was insistent; her eyes glittered, her sharp nose was thrust forward inquisitively. "They say she draws two thousand a week, and won't go to supper with a man for less than five hundred dollars. She says if fellows want to be seen in public with her they'll have to pay for it, and she's right. Of course she's terribly bad, but you must admit she's done mighty well for herself."

"We'll have a chance to see her tonight," announced Lilla. "Mr. Hammon is giving a big supper to some of his friends and we're going—Lorelei and I. Demorest is down for her 'Danse de Nuit.' They say it's the limit."

"Hammon, the steel man?" queried the critic, curiously.

"Sure. There's only one Hammon. But mix on the newspaper story; this is a private affair."

"TO BE CONTINUED."

Don't Let Soap Spoil Your Hair

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soap and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain multi-scented coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

If Too Fat Get More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT. TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air it is said weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from Smith Drug Co. or any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.

Why Fish Are Near-Sighted.

As a result of a number of experimental studies, scientists have found that the eyes of fish are relatively large in comparison with human eyes; a fish's eye is ordinary about one-twentieth of the length of its body, while that of a man is from one-sixtieth to one-seventieth of the height. It is believed that this is one reason for their near-sightedness.

As a means of disposing of your real estate, the little want ads are sure winners.

TO LIVE LONG!

A recipe given by a famous physician for long life was: "Keep the kidneys in good order! Try to eliminate thru the skin and intestines the poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Try a milk and vegetable diet. Drink plenty of water, and exercise so you sweat—the skin helps to eliminate the toxic poisons and uric acid."

For those past middle life, for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation, as backache, scalding "water," or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "rusty" joints, stiffness, get "Anuric" at the drug store. This is a wonderful eliminator of uric acid and was discovered by Dr. Pierce of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If your druggist does not keep it send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package and you will know that it is thirty-seven times more potent than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.—Advertisement.

Dinner Stories

Mary's mother found her busily engaged in cutting up potatoes. "Why,"

"What are you doing that for?" Pausing a moment in her task, Mary looked up and replied: "I heard the man over at the store say that there was money in potatoes this year, mamma, and I was just looking for some."

The famous author and the author who was not so famous traveled together to a seaside inn. The proprietor had had the famous author for a guest before, and he welcomed him back cordially. On the second day of their stay the famous man summoned the landlord for a confidential interview.

"I want to talk to you about this young friend of mine," he said. "He is new in the writing game, and earns very little money. As a favor to me I should like you to make his bill as small as possible."

The landlord, highly gratified at the great man's friendly attitude, even though it touched his pocketbook, promised. Two days later he was sent for again.

"By the way," said the great man,

"don't let my bill be any larger than his. It would humiliate him. Boys like that are so extremely touchy."

"There is one thing about you that I never cease wondering at," said the lady in Apartment C. "When you and your husband go out together you are always ready as soon as he is."

"That is very simple," said the lady in Apartment D. "When I find that I am not going to be ready in time, I hide some of the necessary clothes and let him hunt for them."

WORKING HARD FOR COMING WEEK AT PARK ASSOCIATION

Greatest Institution of Equine Education in Wisconsin at Present.
(By David W. Watt.)

Through the courtesy of Prof. Charles S. Putnam, who is supervising the summer months, Prof. Putnam is the director of this institution, and under his management many educational institutions of national reputation.

This institution, with its dormitories and other various buildings, covers a space of forty-seven acres. One of the first officers that I met was Arlie Frost of Monroe, who was giving a lesson to Eva Smoot, a student of Monroe, owned by F. B. Juchsing. Smoot was receiving her finishing work and is expected to stand high in her class. Another student who will be seen here next week is Charles S. Dean of Palatine, Ill., who for some years has been at the head of the largest college of this kind in Illinois. Still another, Bert Chandler of Monroe, who coached a grade in the two-year old class of 1912, and who, by the way, went out in the world and gave an account of himself later.

In all the different classes which will be seen next week are scores of horses with fast records, who have already won enviable reputations this season.

Prof. John Murphy of Plattville will be with his famous pacer, Hal Bear, who has started several times this season and won first money in every start. Mr. Murphy bought this horse last winter from a gentleman in Pennsylvania, sight unseen, taking the man's word for it. He had him sent from Portland to Plattville, Wisconsin. "Hal Bear" starts here in the two-year old class of 2:11 over a half mile.

A large number will start in the 2:00 pace, which bids fair to be one of the fastest races ever paced over the Janesville track. Over one hundred horses will be given the work in the four days next week, which goes to show that the directors of the Janesville fair have done their work well, and that in former years horsemen have been treated right when they sojourned in Janesville. When you take out Springfield, Ill.; Des Moines, Ia.; Minneapolis, Minn.; and Milwaukee, Wis., state fair institutions, Janesville easily comes next in line for grounds, buildings and appointments in general. No county fair grounds in this part of the country can give horsemen the accommodations that are given in Janesville.

Janesville is one of the early meetings of the season, and many of the horses entered here will race on long after the frost is on the pumpkin.

Next week when the races open and the man calls out: "Bring up your horses for the 2:15 trot," or whatever class it is, be sure you have your pencil well sharpened and your score card in hand. One word about your score card. It is only a few days ago that I heard a horseman say that he would give five dollars if he had saved his score card of the 2:15 trot which took place in Monroe three years ago.

Make a note of your score card, making a note as to where the race takes place, over the mile or half mile track. Take it home with you far a souvenir, and next winter if you chance to be talking over the race with a friend there will be no question as to your authority, for you will have it in black and white.

With the fine exhibit of stock, more than one hundred of the fastest harness horses in the country, and several high class siders and other attractions, where can you get as much for your money? This advice is as true as the fact that it comes from one who graduated from a Boston college in the class of 1877.

ROCK PRAIRIE CALF MAKES RECORD GAIN

Judging in Clinton and Rock Prairie Districts of Calf Contest Completed Yesterday.

Some astonishing large gains were recorded yesterday when the judging of the Clinton and Rock Prairie districts of Rock county's first annual calf feeding contest was completed. The largest gain in the two districts was found to be 512 pounds. This calf, owned by George Arnold of the Rock Prairie district, this calf, like all the others, was entered on February first, and at that date weighed 178 pounds. At the final weighing yesterday it had made the tremendous gain of 512 pounds, thus weighing 690 pounds.

Frank More of the Clinton district, placed second yesterday with a gain of 477 pounds for his calf. Although this is nearly one hundred pounds lower than the Rock Prairie calf, his gain percentage of marking, comes within points of that received by Arnold.

During the six months of the contest, each contestant has kept a careful record of what has been fed to the calf. Entries were distributed to all the members of the contest and at the end of each month they were filed out. Data was kept of every bit of milk, grain, hay, silage, and other feed that was fed, including the whole milk, silage, grain and silage. The idea of the contest was to get the largest possible gain at the lowest cost. George Arnold of Rock Prairie, who placed first, received 95 points. The average cost per pound was found to be .063 percent.

Judging of the Milton Junction and Janesville districts took place today. The district winners will be awarded with prizes donated by the Beloit Business Men's association. The calves will be exhibited at the Janesville fair and at that place the final winners will be declared. Following is a table giving the name of the contestant, the weight of the calf when entered, the final weight and the final marking.

GOVERNOR SIGNS THE THREE COMMISSIONS OF LOCAL OFFICERS

Jacke, Frills and Worthington Now Officers in Wisconsin National Guard—Drills Being Held.

Governor Philipp has signed the commissions of Captain Hans Jacke, First Lieutenant Henry M. Frills, and Second Lieutenant Roy Worthington of the new Janesville guard organization. This was officially announced at the executive office today. The Janesville company is the first in the state to be mustered into the service under the new army regulations and is the nucleus for the formation of the additional regiments that are ordered by the federal government.

Captain Jacke has been holding drills nightly in the Strimple garage. Last evening forty-eight were in attendance and put through the facing, marching and formations and the drills will be continued tonight. Whether they will be held next week has not been decided, it being felt that it is possible they will be postponed.

The physical examinations by Surgeon Frank Farnsworth continue, over fifty of the company having thus far passed. There have been several reports for minor defects as the regulations on certain qualifications are most strict. There have been four recruits added to the company's list and several others have made application and will be given their examinations as soon as possible.

Until the physical examinations are completed the issue of the uniforms and equipment can not be made; consequently Captain Jacke is most anxious that all who have not yet been examined present themselves to the examining surgeon at once so that a report can be made to the adjutant general's office.

There are several possible locations for the permanent armory under consideration, and the committee in charge of this feature is waiting to hear from one more prospect, before making any definite lease. The state pays a portion of this rental and the company the remainder, which is a small feature as the armory is usually self-supporting.

DRIVES TRUCK OFF BRIDGE INTO CREEK

P. S. Wold of Willowdale Has Serious Accident Wednesday Evening in Town of Plymouth.

Returning from a cream route at eight thirty o'clock Wednesday evening, P. S. Wold of Willowdale met an automobile at a point in the town of Plymouth where the highway crosses a small stream. Blinded by the glare of the lights of the approaching machine, Mr. Wold was unable to see the bridge and when he turned out his heavy auto truck crashed off the bridge into the water and mire. His wife and daughter were riding with him. None of them were injured beyond painful bruises, although the truck was badly wrecked. There was no railing on the bridge and it was impossible to tell the condition of the highway owing to the excessive glare of the lights.

WHITE SOX ON TOP AS BROWNS DEFEAT BOSTON IN TENTH

Rain yesterday at Chicago stops game as St. Louis wins its thirteenth straight game.

Rain stopped the White Sox and Washington at Chicago yesterday, and while St. Louis was defeating Boston, thereby winning their thirteenth straight game, the Sox very graciously slipped into first place.

Since the twelfth of April the White Sox have been battling to get into the first berth. Most of the time they struggled in the second division, and one time, May 22 and 24, sank clear to the bottom. A victory on the following day landed them in fifth place and ever since they have been smashing their way to the top.

Whether or not the Sox will still be in first place when you read this tonight is a question. They were scheduled to meet Washington in two games this afternoon while Boston was attempting to break the consistent winning of the Browns.

If St. Louis can continue its winning streak then it is safe to believe that the Rowlands will stay in first place. However, should Boston win today it will be necessary for the Sox to win both games to stay where they were this morning. If St. Louis wins the Sox will be safe to drop one of the games to Washington.

Just how close and hot the American league race has been is realized when it is known that the Chicago team is the sixth to have the honor of the lead since the season opened. Even now there are seven teams which have opportunity to take the grape only Philadelphia being counted out of the running.

Early in April New York got away in front for a week only to have Boston take the lead. Then New York surged ahead again only to be passed by Detroit. After which Washington took a turn at the top for a brief spell until the Cleveland Indians started matters and had quite a session in first place.

During the latter part of May and the first of June Cleveland and Washington switched back and forth and then the former held it through the greater part of June, yielding it to New York on June 23. At that time the White Sox were in sixth place, and playing exceptionally poor ball.

Up to July 30 the Yankees held the lead. The Boston Red Sox took it, but by that time the Sox were right on Boston's heels. The latter kept in front by wins from Detroit while the Sox avoided the race by triumphing the Athletics. Then they moved and Boston dropped into St. Louis to fall before the wondermen yesterday while the Sox took first place.

With an even break in luck Rowland's troupe should be on top when October first rolls around. They look like the one best bet now. Late in May they began doing things, and aside from the slump in June have played the best and most consistent ball of any team in the league.

EVERS WOULD QUIT JOB WITH BRAVES

Johnny Voices His Disgust After Game Yesterday With Cincinnati. —Quarrels With Team-mate.

Boston and Cincinnati broke even yesterday, the Braves taking the second game to 3, after dropping the first 3 to 1. In the early game Cincinnati scored all their runs in the ninth, Mitchell, a pinch hitter, doubling with the bases full. Smith drove out a home run with the bases full in the first inning of the second game and the Reds were never able to overcome the lead.

Evers and Smith, Boston players, started a wordy war between themselves in the third inning and Evers was chased from the field. After the game the two men came to blows on the field. Other players separated them. Evers shouted his disgust at the Braves so that all the world might hear and declared he was ready to quit if he could get his release. President Tener yesterday suspended George Stallings, manager of the Braves, for three days. After Wednesday's game Stallings told Umpire Right he ought to be sent to jail for umpiring as he did.

BROWNS WIN IN 10TH; BOSTON DROPS LEAD

Thrilling Finish in Extra Inning Battle Gives St. Louis Team Thirteenth Straight Victory.

The Browns won their thirteenth straight game Thursday, defeating the Red Sox 3 to 2, and sent the White Sox into first place. It was another thrilling battle with the winning run coming in the tenth. With one out, Tobin bunted safely. Sisler lined a double to left, Tobin stopping at third. Pratt was purposely passed and Marsans hit a slow roller to Scott, who fumbled, Tobin scoring. Homer into the left field seats by Walker gave the Red Sox one in the second.

EAST-WEST TENNIS SERIES BEGINS IN NEW YORK TODAY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

New York, August 4.—Pacific coast tennis doubles champion Maurice McLoughlin represented the west among the tennis experts gathered here today for the second annual east-west tennis series at the West Side Tennis club courts.

The series will last today and tomorrow and there will be five singles and two double matches to decide the title. Last year's two series resulted in a win by the west of 5 to 1 on the first and a win by the east of 4 to 2 on the second.

McLoughlin had decided not to come east this year because he said he felt that he was not in good form, but his winning of the Pacific coast doubles championship several weeks ago gave him more confidence in himself and he decided to make a try for the east-west premiership.

PITTSBURGH AND NEW YORK WATCH SOUTH BEND FIELDER

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 4.—Managers Callahan of Pittsburgh and McGraw of New York have scouts here watching the playing of Al Eschbach, an outfielder on the local club of the Central league, and it is understood Owner Smith intends to sell him at the close of the season. Eschbach leads the league in stolen bases, is hitting above .300 and is regarded as one of the best outfielders on the circuit.

MATT HINKEL RISKS BIG WAD ON FIGHT

Matt Hinkel, Cleveland fight promoter and referee who is staging a bout for the lightweight crown between John Kilbane and George Chaney, is coming clean with a big wad to put the thing over. Hinkel has guaranteed Chaney $6,500 and Kilbane $10,000 and he will have to pack the house to make a penny for himself. Few title bouts have ever drawn enough to clear much above such figures and especially lightweight fights.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

Doc Johnson of the Pirates has another chance to stick in fact circles, and he seems to be making the best of it. Doc was dangerously near a trip to the bushes and about the only reason he didn't go was because the Pirates couldn't make the right deal for him. He is having another chance at first just now, and playing the bag in his best manner.

Paul Smith of Montreal is the Ty Cobb of the International league and will be hooked by a big league scout before long. He's batting .367 and has stolen twenty-one bases, leading the league in both departments. He should bring the Montreal owners a pretty penny when they sell him at the season's close.

The Athletics are picking up a bit. If Joe Bush could work offener they might hit a faster clip and if he could win two days straight they might actually put on a winning streak. At it is they lost twelve games straight when Joe won for them and then after losing another nine Joe came to bat again.

Clark Griffith has discovered that pitcher Sam Rice can hit and he's going to play him henceforth in the outfield.

Eddie Collins says he wanted to bat third in the batting order all through his baseball career but at his own suggestion he was tried a second place. The change will probably help Eddie's batting stride but he hated to do it.

In spite of the poor attendance at Washington it isn't at all likely that the franchise will be taken away from there as some have hinted. Ban John on a recent visit assured them that there was small chance of the club moving to Baltimore or anything of the sort. Washington is too good an ad for the league and pays in other ways.

It may be forgotten by many that Rube Oldring has played with the Yankees before. Back in 1905 he appeared with them when Oldring was fifth was managing the Yanks and was badly in need of an outfielder. Connie Mack loaned Oldring to the Yanks for a while and later on Griff returned him.

Waite Hoyt, the boy wonder signed by the Giants and formed to Leabanon, won thirty-one games out of thirty-three when he was pitching last season for his high school team. He's only sixteen years old and will probably appear regularly in a Giant uniform when he is seventeen. His speed, control and all round baseball genius made such a hit with McGraw that he signed him in spite of his young years and believes after a little more developing that the boy will be ready to work regularly in the Giants' box.

"Slim" Love, the Yank pitcher, is the latest star in the big leagues, being 6 feet 7 1/2 inches in his bare feet. He gets most of his height from the extraordinary length of his legs, which are said to be remarkable. He is very slender and is having very long arms and weighing only about 170 pounds. Slim hasn't set the league afire with his pitching yet, though he had a good record with Los Angeles before coming to the Yanks.

The dink is having a most active season. Every team that makes any sort of a start in the proper direction is given pause by a variety of accidents and misfortunes that would dishearten the most valorous. The New York Yanks and the Cleveland Indians have suffered especially and have been almost removed from the pennant races as a result of injuries and other disasters. But they are not the only ones to go to the ax and recently Wallie Schang, Jimmy Archer, Hank Sevedel and Ray Caldwell have been bumped. Archer's injuries seem to be the most serious of them all. He ran into the concrete stand at Shibe park in pursuit of a foul and has now in the hospital with a fractured jaw.

George Mullin, the old Tiger pitching star, was in the same game when last heard of. George pitched for the Kokomo Red Sox in Chicago a short while ago.

INDIANA FOOTBALL MEMBERS ANXIOUS TO GET IN GAME

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Ten members of Indiana's university football squad, now serving with Hoosier battalions on the Mexican border, have heard the call of the gridiron and want to get back to Bloomington in time to report to Coach Stiehm's first assembly of candidates.

Of course they recognize Uncle Sam's prior right to their services and all are willing to stay in the south if needed, but now they write they would appreciate being released in time to take part in the fall campaign of the Big Nine. In a letter to an alumnus here active in Indiana's athletic affairs they ask that steps be taken to procure their release in time for practice, as now there seems little need, they write, for staying at the front. The signers of the letter are A. D. Brehart, Emil McCoy, H. C. Springer, Don Essex, C. E. Wiley, Carl Schuabel, D. T. Chambers, Emil Wagner and Charles Polz.

All are members of I company, First Indiana infantry, which, with five exceptions, is made up entirely of students at the university.

Everyday Wisdom By DON HEROLD

SOUP
There have been wine songs and ston songs, but no soup songs. Oh, soup, thou most beloved of all unexciting drinks, soup, the cup of all nations! Soup that saves! Soup that soothes!

Soup flows in hovel and palaces, alike. Anybody can choose soup, if they can't, they can choose soup for every purpose. It can be made out of anything, from second-hand door-knobs to nightingale livers. There is a soup for every day in the year. There is soup for the carnivorous, soup for the vegetarian, soup for the toothless. There is soup that you can't see with the naked eye, and soup that you can cut with a knife. There is soup that splashes like Niagara. Soup is as variable as the sunset, as interesting and uncertain as a woman.

No two persons have the same soup technique. Some are cautious and distant, others baste. Some regard soup as personal, others regard it as public. Some regard their soup as an art, and there are soup virtuosos aplenty.

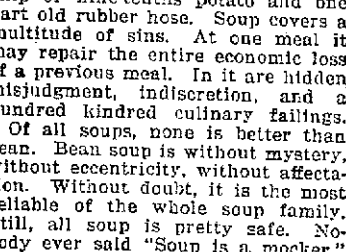

In some of the best cafes they are now serving stiff soup, that stands alone.

Some soup defies science and intuition alike. It is impossible to guess its ancestry, whether it were nine-tenths clam and one part parsnip or nine-tenths potato and one part old rubber hose. Soup covers a multitude of sins. At one meal it may repair the entire economic loss of a previous meal. In it are hidden misjudgment, indiscretion, and a hundred kindred culinary failings.

Of all soups, none is better than bean. Bean soup is without mystery, without eccentricity, without affectation. Without doubt, it is the most reliable of the whole soup family. Still, all soup is pretty safe. Nobody ever said "Soup is a mocker."

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Aug. 4, 1876—Court street will soon be graded. Remember the republican caucuses tomorrow evening. Attend the Centennial picnic, Court street church, August 8. The masons are at work on the foundations of the new postoffice. The barometer has been falling for several hours and a storm is on the program. Mrs. C. Henry's residence in the first ward was the scene of a very interesting social dancing party last night. The house and yards were brilliantly illuminated, three tables, by headlights and Chinese lanterns. Some fifty or sixty persons tripped the light fantastic. Frank Gray left for the Centennial yesterday.

On the fair grounds tomorrow there will be a lively scene. The races will take place in the afternoon, and from the number of entries which will be made, an interesting afternoon's sport is promised. It is not often that a life insurance agent gets stumped in a controversy about insurance, but one of the most irascible class found his match yesterday in the postoffice delivery room. He was introduced to a gentleman who was uninsured, and who, it was thought, could be induced to take out a policy. The agent began to explain the merits of his office, when the uninsured person answered, "I haven't possibly got time to earn money with which to see my wife's second husband up in business. He will have to look after that himself." That was the end of the argument.
